

Southeastern Pennsylvania Section of the American Association of Physics Teachers

An organization to bring together high school and college physics teachers and other professionals working in science education

FALL DEMO NIGHT

Who: Open to all physics teachers, both high school and college level! Consider bringing a colleague, lab instructor, or physics student!

When: Friday Evening, October 7th, 2011 at 7:00 PM

Dinner (optional): 6:00 PM, $15 for attendees who preregister, $17 for walk-in registrants.

Where: Malvern Preparatory School in Malvern, PA
Malvern Preparatory School, 418 S. Warren Avenue, Malvern, PA 19355
Chester County, Pennsylvania - at the intersection of Warren Avenue and Paoli Pike
For directions, go to: <http://www.malvernprep.org/>

Host: Rob Boyce (rboyce-AT-malvernprep-DOT-org)

This is usually a fun evening for socializing as well as seeing new and old demos. Bring a colleague! Bring a demo! Bring yourself and your camera!

Let us know if you are bringing a demo that requires presentation equipment that you can't easily bring with you!

RSVP: to Rob Boyce (rboyce-AT-malvernprep-DOT-org) AS SOON AS POSSIBLE if you plan on having dinner (you can pay at the door).

Note: If you are interested in helping to plan the Spring Meeting, there will be a planning meeting starting at about 5 PM, before the dinner.

Yay Physics Fun!
